It was time for Mama Bird to sit on the tip of the branch. She curled her feet to grip the branch. She wanted to rip her feathers.

"Maybe I will be able to grip the branch."

Mama Bird sat on the brook and sipped the water.

A sip sounded nice.

Soon, Baby Bird hopped off the branch. She did a flip and a dip. She landed on the grass below.

"I did it!" she said.

"Now, we will get that sip," said Mama.
